

THE AMERICAN HOLISTIC NURSES CREDENTIALING CORPORATION

RECERTIFICATION PACKET FOR CONTINUING COMPETENCY FOR
AHNCC CERTIFIED REGISTERED NURSES
(Holistic Nurses and Nurse Coaches)

Introduction

Continuing competency is an ongoing, life-long process that includes self-assessment and self-reflection which facilitates self-awareness, self-development and reflective practice. Recertification requirements are required to ensure that certificants are in compliance with AHNCC's continuing competency viewpoint. AHNCC believes that our certificants are committed to integrate and apply their knowledge, skills, judgement, and expertise using attitudes, values, and beliefs required to practice safely, effectively, and ethically in their designated role, patient population, and/or setting. The Holistic Nurse or Nurse Coach certificant is also expected to understand, respect, and honor different cultural views, values, beliefs, and behaviors of those they serve.

Recertification is required if you wish to continue to use your AHNCC Certification Credential. You need to submit the enclosed application not more than 6 months prior to the expiration date. You are not eligible to use the epithet, HN-BC[®], HNB-BC[®], AHN-BC[®], APHN-BC[®], NC-BC[®], or HWNC-BC[®] if your certification has not been renewed by the expiration date on your certificate.

Recertification Requirements:

1. Continue to be in good standing in Nursing with an active, unrestricted license documented by a copy of a US RN license (or verification) (or a validated international RN license) attached to application. (Also copy of active APRN license for APHN-BC[®] recertification,);
2. Actively involved in Holistic Nursing or Nurse Coaching as described on page 6;
3. Completion of Continuing Education or Continuing Competency hours/activities as described below;
4. Signed Letter of Agreement with AHNCC.
5. Pay Recertification fee.

Criteria for Contact Hours:

The continuing competency criteria for renewal of your AHNCC certification are the equivalent of 100 continuing competency hours in your specialty (i.e. holistic nursing or nurse coaching) and related disciplines. Contact hours must have been acquired from the date of your last certification to the date for renewal and submission of your recertification application. Continuing competency means that you have completed learning experiences that result in updating and expanding your knowledge, skills, and expertise in your specialty. Therefore, credit is given for appropriate continued education courses and alternative activities such as publishing, presentations at conferences, and academic courses in your specialty. If you are interested in learning more about possible continuing competency activities that can be used to meet the recertification requirements, please check Attachment 2. Specific information follows:

- a. The contact hours or continuing competency hours/activities must all directly address holistic nursing practice or the nurse coach role. Examples are: holistic nursing or health, or major concepts such as spirituality, nutrition, health, wellness, well-being or well-becoming; holistic self-care, sacred-space, communications, relationship-based care, resiliency, compassion fatigue, presence, holistic therapies, methods of practice, studies that facilitate self-care, growth, and/or transformation within a holistic context and are relevant to your practice. Medical focused courses will not be accepted unless you can explain how they relate to your practice. Basic nursing preparation courses are not accepted.
- b. The continuing competency hours/activities must be approved either by a licensing board, credentialed body, educational institution, or other qualified individual or organization.
- c. Certificates or other documentation that gives proof of completion of each continuing competency educational program or activity must be submitted if you are randomly chosen to be audited.
- d. There are a lot of different ways to earn continuing competency hours. You can learn more about this at: <https://www.ahncc.org/resources/professional-development-activities/>.

Submission:

Recertification documents, including a renewal application, documentation for contact hours (if submitting), and the Recertification fee not more than 6 months before the expiration date on the certificate. ANHCC does not backdate a certification renewal. There is no grace period and no backdating. If the Recertification application is not received before the Expiration Date, your status will be changed to “Inactive”. Recertification applications received after the expiration date will have a recertification date that begins with the date of approval. Consequently, recertified “Inactive” certificants will incur a gap in their certification dates. It is your responsibility to check with your state licensing board, your employer, and/or the agency to determine if you can continue to practice and/or receive reimbursement for services while you are in the process of recertifying your Inactive certification. All applications must be submitted complete. Missing information will delay the processing of your recertification application.

- If your status is Inactive, you will then have three (3) years to send in a completed Recertification Application, including documentation validating that you have completed all practice and continuing competency requirements immediately prior to submission of the application, and appropriate recertification fee. You may renew at any time during the three years. After the three years, your status will be changed to “Expired”.
- If your certification has been Inactive more than three (3) years, you will need to retake the Certification Examination. RENEWAL PACKETS ARE NOT ACCEPTED AFTER THE THREE-YEAR INACTIVE PERIOD.

Documentation of Eligibility for AHNCC Recertification

There are four requirements for eligibility for AHNCC recertification: 1) Current and unrestricted licensure, 2) active practice in your specialty, 3) continuing competency requirements, and 4) a signed Letter of Agreement. Each criterion must be met. Definitions for each are listed below followed by space for documentation of completed criteria. This form must be completed and submitted as a part of the Application to Qualify for Recertification packet.

1) Licensure: A nurse applying for AHNCC re-certification must have a current unrestricted Registered Nurses licensure in the United States or any of its territories which uses the NCLEX examination as the basis for determining RN licensure. In order to meet this criterion, an individual nurse's RN license must be current and unrestricted. This means that a RN license, issued by a state board of nursing, must not have provisions or conditions that would limit the nurse's practice in any way. It is the responsibility of the candidates to notify AHNCC when any restriction is placed on their registered nurse license. A photocopy of the RN license, or documentation of licensure acquired from the Board of Nursing, must be submitted. Candidates for recertification of APHN-BC® must submit APRN license information.

RN License: (State) (License Number) (Expiration Date)

Year RN License Initially Received

Year Started Holistic Nursing

Year Started Nurse Coaching

APRN License: (State) (License Number) (Expiration Date)

2) Active Practice in Nursing: Candidates applying for AHNCC recertification must have been actively involved in the practice of their certification (i.e. Holistic Nursing or Nurse Coaching).

Holistic nursing is defined as all nursing practice that provides care for the person as an integrated, holistic human being, inseparable and integral with the environment. Holistic practice draws on holistic nursing knowledge, theories, expertise, and intuition to guide nurses in becoming therapeutic partners with clients in a mutually evolving process toward healing and holism. Holistic Nursing is universal in nature and may be practiced in any clinical setting, community, private practice, hospital, educational institution, or research foundation; with the understanding that clients are the experts of their perceived needs and care is always planned for and provided within the context of their culture, perceptions, values, and belief system.

Nurse Coaching is a skilled, purposeful, results-oriented, and structured relationship-centered, interaction-based role with clients based in the precepts of Holistic Nursing wherein clients are facilitated in achieving health-focused goals. Nurse Coaches are educated in advanced communication strategies, skills, and knowledge with the understanding that clients are the experts of their needs and care is always planned for and provided within the context of their culture, perceptions, values, and belief system. Candidates applying for AHNCC recertification must have been actively involved in the practice of their specialty for one (1) full year or part-time for a minimum of 2,000 hours (1200 hours for Nurse Coaches) within the last five (5) years prior to application. This may include private practice, working as an educator, researcher, at the bedside or in the community, volunteer work, i.e., as a parish nurse, or anywhere else where you use your RN license, and offer nursing knowledge, skills, beliefs, and expertise.

Options for Meeting Professional Growth and Development Continuing Competency Requirements

Continuing Competency Hour Requirements:

Learning occurs through many different avenues and opportunities. Learning-Style Theory and Multiple Intelligence Theory suggest individuals can be supported in different ways of learning, based on their individual strengths and types of intelligence; as individuals have different ways of perceiving the world around them, absorbing the information, evaluating what they are processing, and retaining new information (Silver, H., Strong, R., & Perini, M, 1997). Furthermore, when educational opportunities allow individuals to learn through different avenues and activities, certificants are cognitively, emotionally, and behaviorally engaged and the outcome is better retention and application of new knowledge and skills.^{1, 2} Based on these beliefs certificants are offered many different options to facilitate ongoing professional growth and development.

The continuing competency criterion for renewal of your AHNCC certification is the equivalent of 100 contact hours/Continuing Competency hours in your specialty (i.e. holistic nursing or nurse coaching) and related disciplines. Contact hours or continuing competency hours (ECCH) must have been acquired from the date of your last certification to the date for renewal and submission of your recertification application. Continuing competency means that you have completed learning experiences that result in updating and expanding your knowledge, skills, and expertise in your specialty. Therefore, credit is given for appropriate continued education courses and alternative and equivalent activities such as publishing, presentations at conferences, and academic courses in your specialty. Specific information follows:

- a. The contact hours or continuing competency hours/activities must all directly address holistic nursing practice. Such as: holistic nursing or health, or major concepts such as spirituality, intention, nutrition, health, wellness, well-being or well-becoming; holistic self-care, sacred space, intention, relationship-based care, resiliency, compassion fatigue, presence, holistic therapies, methods of practice, studies that facilitate self-care, growth, and/or transformation within a holistic context and are relevant to your practice. Medical focused courses will not be accepted unless you can explain how they relate to your practice. Courses that are considered basic nursing preparation and courses for lay people are not accepted.
- b. The contact hours must be approved either by a licensing board, credentialed body, educational institution, or other qualified individual or organization.
- c. Please Note: Specific written documentation for all continuing competency activities must be provided if audited. See <https://www.ahncc.org/resources/professional-development-activities/> for continuing competency opportunities.

For academic credit courses, one (1) quarter credit is equal to 10 contact hours. One (1) semester credit is equal to 15 contact hours.

2. Silver, H., Strong, R., & Perini, M. 1997. Integrating Learning Styles and Multiple Intelligences. Teaching for Multiple Intelligences, 55,(1), pgs. 22-27.

Rationale for Recertification Requirements

Current, Unrestricted RN License. This is required as applicants with unrestricted licenses are more likely to have a history of and currently be practicing safe professional nursing practice; as opposed to those who have current restrictions imposed by the Board of Nursing on their practice.

Current practice. This criteria for certification support and facilitates nurses in being up to date and current with the laws, regulations, and practices that allow them to practice safely within their specialty area. For a Holistic Nurse certificant 1 year Fulltime (average of 32 hrs. per week) or 2000 hours in last 5 years is required. For Nurse Coach certificant (1200) hrs. over the last five years is required. This requirement is in place to facilitate AHNCC certificants in being current in the utilization, implementation, and application of practices within their specialty. Ongoing competency in these practices is expected of certificants renewing their credentials.

Continuing Competency CE or Professional Activities: Recertification requirements are based on the belief that certificants must not only maintain competence but must also assume an ongoing process of self-reflection, self-growth and development of by building their knowledge base, skills, and expertise in the specialty. Learning occurs through many different avenues and opportunities. Learning Style Theory and Multiple Intelligence Theory suggest that individuals can be supported in different ways of learning, based on their individual strengths and types of intelligence; individuals have different ways of perceiving the world around them, absorbing the information, evaluating what they are processing, and retaining new information (Silver, H., Strong, R., & Perini, M, 1997). When learner engagement strategies and educational programs create opportunities for individuals to learn through different avenues and activities, they (wherein specifically referring to certificants) are cognitively, emotionally and behaviorally engaged. The outcome of this may be better retention and application of new knowledge and skills. (Silver, H., Strong, R., & Perini, M. (1997). Integrating Learning Styles and Multiple Intelligences. Teaching for Multiple Intelligences, 55, (1), pp. 22-27.) In addition, Boyer (1990) proposed that “a more comprehensive, more dynamic understanding of scholarship could be considered.” Based on his work, he suggested four separate, yet interrelating domains which included: the scholarship of discovery; the scholarship of integration; the scholarship of application; and the scholarship of teaching. Dissemination of learned knowledge is the outcome of all of the scholarly pursuits.

Based on this paradigm AHNCC recognizes different professional development opportunities that certificants may choose to demonstrate their scholarship and meet their continuing competency requirements. Documentation of professional growth of the type of scholarship and continued competency requirements are required.
